PUBLIC SCHOOLS AND CRIME.

There recently appeared in the Popular Science Monthly an article on "Public Schools and Crime," in which these sentences are found:

Just look at the records of our mentally and morally deranged as exhibited in our statistics of insanity and crime and vice, and they alone are enough to cast doubt upon the claim that a public-school education for our illiterates is sufficient to insure a decrease of mental and moral delinquency. For it remains to be explained why, in the decade ending with 1880, population having increased 30 per cent., and literally only ten per cent. a relative decrease, that the number of criminals during the same period present the alarming increase of 82 per cent. while of insane persons there appears the enormous addition of 145 per cent. Can it be possible that with greater educational facilities there is to be increased crime, and that every enlargement in the seating capacity of our schools is to be followed by a larger corresponding demand for insane accommodations and additional felon cells?

This question is not well put. It is apt to create a wrong impression. It is apt to incline a certain class of persons to believe that the common school is graduating criminals rather than building up manhood. Another question is found in the same article: "If the instruction of our common schools subdues the tendency to crime, why is it that the ratio of prisoners, being one in 3,442 inhabitants in 1850, rose to one in every 1,647 in 1860, one in 1,021 in 1870, and one in 883 in 1880; while, upon the authority of the Rev. S. W. Dieke, the amount of liquor consumed per capita was three times as great in 1880 as in 1850?"

It is not a difficult task to understand why there is an increase of crime in the United States, why and increase of insanity, and why a great increase in the consumption of liquor. But Mr. Wines, who was connected with the Wisconsin compilation, makes the statement, while in 1880 the ratio of foreign criminals to population was five times that of the native born, in 1880 the ratio was only two to one; and if we deduct the commitments for disorder and immorality, the ratio of foreign criminals is but little in excess of that for native whites.

So far as the percentage of foreign born and native born criminals are concerned, some facts from our own state prison may be of interest. Of the 211 committed to the prison in 1888, 151 were native born and 60 were foreign born; and of the 211, the number having foreign born parents were 106. Take the number of persons admitted to the Northern hospital for the insane for the two years ending September 30th, 1888, and of the 637 placed there for treatment, 591 were of foreign parentage.

These facts show that the increasing foreign population in this country has very much to do with the increase of crime. The common schools, however efficient they may be, cannot widen their influence so as to counter balance the evil effects of indiscriminate foreign immigration. In spite of all the good work the common schools can do, crime will increase under the present system of receiving foreigners. The great bulk of criminals do not come from the common schools. They have had very little to do with schools of any kind. To say that they are able to read and write does not mean that their "education" has been received in the common schools. To say that such criminals are the products of the common schools is so far as their education is concerned, is a libel on the common school system of our country.

HOW TO MAKE GOOD AMERICANS.

The B. I. Free Press makes some remarks on the Bennett law which are well worth repeating:

The "Bennett law" is intended to enforce three things: First, Every child between the ages of 7 and 14 years must attend some school for at least twelve consecutive weeks of each school year, said period to be designated by the school board. On account of poverty, precocity, incapacity, or other good reason, power is given the county judge to issue a release from the requirements of this law. Second, a school, in the eyes of the law, is defined to be only such as those in which reading, arithmetic, geography, and United States history are taught in the English language. This is the clause which has been most condemned, strange as it may seem to any American who was not blinded by partisanship.

Third, no child under 13 years of age is to be hired to labor for any person, firm or factory. However, children over 10 years of age may be hired if the necessity can be proved to the county judge, who will then issue a permit to the parent or guardian; said permit to be given to the employer, who will post it where it may be seen by any police officer, school officer, or teacher.

These seem to be the chief features of chapter 619. There are a few minor points which will repay any one for carefully reading the entire law.

Not long ago the state superintendent gave his official opinion that the law is mandatory in requiring school boards to designate the period during which the attendance of pupils shall be consecutive. Without doubt, he suffers less from the neglect of school officials than do many other communities; but even here there seems to be a chance for improvement. In accordance with the duty thus laid upon them our school board has designated the twelve weeks beginning with Monday, January 27th, as the period during which all children between 7 and 14 years of age shall attend some school.

The spirit of the law is good and is intended to enable the state, through its schools, to develop a citizenship which shall be as free as possible from illiteracy; to have American, or Americanized, voters, capable of exercising their powers intelligently and independently; and to

THE CENSUS AND FARM MORTGAGES.

JANESVILLE, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21

THE CENSUS AND FARM MORTGAGES.

Senator Hale, from the census committee, has reported back adversely the bill to require the superintendent of the census to ascertain what percentage of people own their farms, the number of farms under mortgage, and the amount thereof. There has been a demand from certain quarters for the collection of these statistics, and it has been alleged they would show that the farmers were ruined and that nearly all their farms were mortgaged. There will probably be here and there a protest heard against the action of the senate committee. —Chicago Tribune.

There are different opinions in regard to the collecting of farm mortgage statistics for the eleventh census. The suggestion first came from some of the magazine free trade papers, especially the New York Times, which made a declaration that the amount of farm mortgages in six or seven of the western states, footed up over a billion dollars. How the Times ever got hold of such appalling figures, was a puzzle for a while, and then it was discovered that the Times had taken, probably for the purposes of doing mischief, the assessed valuation of farm property in the six or seven states and made the aggregate amount thereof, the amount of the farm mortgages. To be sure it was a dastardly scheme, gotten up to create hostility among farmers against the present tariff law. But the scheme was laid bare as the readers of the Gazette will clearly remember.

Since the printing of the Times bubble there has been less interest taken in the subject of farm mortgages especially so far as regards the collection of statistics thereof by the census bureau. Why should there be any more reason for collecting facts concerning farm mortgages than for collecting statistics pertaining to the mortgages on merchandise, or manufacturer's stock, or mill, ships or factories? A good many farmers can run their mills without borrowed money, and then why do free traders think the whole agricultural community is going to pot because farmers borrow money as merchants or manufacturers do?

The senate committee did right. But for the benefit of free traders it may be stated that there are not one-quarter as many failures among farmers as there are among merchants.

Miss Nellie Bly, the New York lady journalist who is trying to make a trip around the world in seventy-five days, reached San Francisco yesterday morning. A tug took her from the steamer and she was soon on a special train en route to New York. Miss Bly, who is trying to outstrip Miss Rly in the race, and who started in exactly the opposite direction is now on board an ocean steamer between Queenstown and New York.

"When lovely woman stoops to folly," and goes out in the snow without her India rubber, the only art to cure her cold is to buy one bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup at 25 cents and take it.

"Speak this speech, as I tell you, trippingly on the tongue." Say that one of the great benefactions of the age is a small bottle of Salvation Oil the greatest cure on earth for pain. Only 25 cent.

THE GOOD WIFE.

Higher Duties for Her Than Those of a Man's Servant.

It is not to sweep the house, make the beds, darn the socks, and cook the meals chiefly that a man wants a wife. If this is all he needs a servant can do it cheaper than a wife. If this is all, when a young man calls to see a lady send him into the pantry to taste the bread and cake she has made; send him to inspect the needle-work and bed-making; or put a broom in his hand and send him to witness its use. Such a store and important sunshine, wise young man will quickly look after them. But what the true young man wants with a wife is her companionship, sympathy and love. The way of life has many dreary places in it, and a man needs a wife to go with him.

A man is sometimes overtaken by misfortune; he meets with failures and defeat; trials and temptations beset him, and he needs one to stand by and sympathize. He has some hard battles to fight with poverty, enemies and sin, and he needs a woman that, when he puts his arm around her, he feels he has something to fight for; she will help him to fight; she will put her lips to his ear and whisper words of counsel, and her hand to his heart and impart inspiration. All through life, through storm and tempest, sunshine, conflict and victory, through adversity and through favoring winds, man needs a woman's love.

BILLIONS OF ANCESTORS.

Some Figures as to Our Progenitors That are Positively Startling.

Did you ever think, says the St. Louis Republic, how many male and female ancestors were required to bring you into this world? First, it was necessary that you should have a father and mother—that makes two human beings. Each of them must have had a father and mother—that makes four human beings. Again, each of them must have had a father and mother—making eight more human beings.

So we go back to the time of Jesus Christ—fifty-six generations. The calculation thus resulting shows that 139,235,017,489,534,976 births must have taken place in order to bring you into the world—you, who read these lines. All this since the birth of Christ—not since the beginning of time. According to Proctor, if from a single pair, for 5,000 years, each husband and wife had married at twenty-one years of age and there had been no deaths, the population of the earth would be 2,199,915 followed by 144 ciphers. It would require to hold this population a number of billions the size of this, equal to 1,166,526 followed by 125 ciphers. The human mind shrinks in contemplating such immense numbers.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

A DAY'S PROCEEDINGS IN CONGRESS.

A Row in the House Over the Rules—A Year's Work in the Mills—Washington Gossip.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—In the House a hot discussion arose over the absence of a demand was made for the right to such a demand in the absence of rules was questioned. This led to a general discussion over the absence of rules in which Messrs. Mills, Crisp, Oates and others on the Democratic side denounced the delay of the committee on rules and the majority side of the House for the delay in offering and adopting rules. Mr. Carlisle also spoke, urging that the rules of the last Congress be considered a precedent upon which the enforcement of common parliamentary law should be based, but also urging that definite rules be adopted.

On the Republican side Messrs. Cannon, Payne and Boutwell spoke. The Speaker ruled that under common parliamentary law the right to demand tellers does not exist.

Mr. Mills appealed from the decision and a yeas and nays vote was ordered on a motion to table Mills' appeal. The motion was carried by a strict party vote.

The House spent the afternoon on the Oklahoma bill and adjourned at 5:30.

The Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—In the Senate Mr. Blair presented a number of petitions praying for the passage of his educational bill.

Mr. Blair introduced a bill to present to the Gettysburg Memorial association a specimen of the arms and equipments used by the Union army during the war.

Mr. Berry made a few remarks in opposition to the bill to instruct the census commissioner to ascertain what percentage of farms in the United States are under mortgage or free from incumbrances.

Some discussion of the bill followed. Mr. Berry's remarks. Mr. Harney proposed saddling so much extra and intricate work on the census bureau, on the ground that it would delay the report for a long period, and recommended immediate postponement of the bill.

Mr. Vest here took part in the debate and attacked the census commissioner. He said the bureau was a Republican machine and the census was controlled entirely by Republicans.

After some further discussion on the subject calendar business was taken up and a few bills disposed of. The Senate then went into executive session and adjourned soon after.

SHORT IN THEIR ACCOUNTS.

Receivers of Public Money's Peremptorily Removed for Cause.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Secretary Noble, through special agents of the Interior Department, has been investigating the accounts of a large number of receivers of public money in different parts of the country. The accounts of a number of these are found to be short, and upon the recommendation of the secretary the President has made the following peremptory removals:

R. W. Hutchins, Humboldt, Cal., alleged shortage about $8,000; Fred W. Smith, Tucson, Ariz., alleged shortage about $25,000; Charles Spaulding, Topeka, Kas., alleged shortage about $3,000. About ten others who have been found to be short in their accounts will probably be removed within a few days.

THE APACHE PRISONERS.

Their Removal to Indian Territory Recommended by the President.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The President has sent to the Senate the report made up by Gen. Crook and Lieut. Howard upon the condition of the Apache prisoners at the Mescal Rancho, Arizona. The President recommends that provision be made for locating these Indians upon lands in the Indian Territory, and says: "Some of these Indians have rendered good service to the government in the pursuit and capture of the murderous band that followed Geronimo. It is a reproach that they should not, in their treatment of them, be distinguished from the cruel and bloody members of the tribe now confined with them."

DIPLOMATS DINED.

A Brilliant Social Event at the White House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—President and Mrs. Harrison gave the annual dinner at the White House last night to members of the diplomatic corps. Invitations were generally accepted, and all the prominent diplomats and their wives were present. Other guests were Assistant Secretary of State Wharton, Congressman Hitt, Mrs. Allen and Gen. Michener of Indiana. The decorations and menu were most elaborate and the affair was the most brilliant social event of this administration.

MILLIONS COINED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Director of the Mint Leach has issued a statement that during the calendar year ending Dec. 31 there were coined at the United States mints 1,338,012 gold pieces, valued at $21,413,931; 43,030,022 silver pieces, valued at $35,063,815; and 64,723,283 minor pieces, valued at 1,233,408.49. The total value of the coinage for the year was $58,194,022.64, of which $34,551,811 were standard silver dollars.

Bank Statistics.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The comptroller of the currency makes public a statement showing that on Dec. 31 last there were 3,326 national banks in the United States with a capital of $617,740,164, surplus fund of $198,503,749, individual deposits of $1,135,402,085, loans and discounts of $1,797,359,787 and government deposits of over $44,000,000.

Denial of the Toronto Report.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Senators Hale and Dolph deny the report that Editor Farrar of the Toronto Mail had appeared before the Republican members of the Senate committee on relations with Canada, in secret session, and influenced them in opposition to the commercial union bill in order to force annexation. They also deny the statement in the same report that there was bad feeling between the Republicans and Democrats on that committee.

FOR THE WORLD'S FAIR.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—A committee from the Grand Army of the Republic, consisting of Gen. Merrill of Massachusetts, Blue of Kansas, Burst of Illinois, and Kountze of Ohio, was before the House committee on invalid pensions advocating the enactment of the disability pension bill, which proposes to pension those soldiers who are disabled, whether dependent or not, and also the passage of the service-pension bill.

Chandler's Charges to be Investigated.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Secretary Tracy has appointed the following court of inquiry to investigate the charges in Chandler's Senate resolution respecting the attempt of navy officers to lobby a measure through Congress increasing their salaries: Commodore Groer, Chief Engineer Lorina and Pay Director Locker as members; St. W. He Would Not Resign.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Secretary Noble has directed the removal of Henry A. Phillips, of New York, chief of division of the pension office, who had twice declined to resign and appointed W. H. Reynolds, of Pennsylvania, to succeed him.

TO BREAK THE DEADLOCK.

Iowa Republicans Plan to Secure a Temporary Organization of the House.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 22.—The deadlock in the Legislature seems to have been settling down to a solid basis. The Republicans at their caucus Tuesday decided to propose that a temporary organization be effected at once and to transfer the fight to the permanent organization. They are willing to give the Democrats the temporary Speaker or almost anything they want for the sake of getting organized, on the condition that the roll of members be the roll that has already been made up by the Secretary of State. It is said that if the Democrats could control the organization they would make up a roll leaving off the names of sixteen members who came from districts which the Democrats claim are unconstitutional apportioned. If they could strike off sixteen Republicans they would elect a Democratic speaker and defeat Allison.

Every compromise guards this point and leaves it in their power to take this revolutionary step if they choose. The Democrats deny, however, that they entertain any such idea. If the proposition of the Republicans is accepted by the Democrats a temporary organization will be made and the struggle will begin for permanent organization and control of speakership and committees.

A BOLD TRAIN-ROBBERY.

Two Masked Men Secure $25,000 From a Southern Pacific Train.

TULARE, Cal., Jan. 22.—The south-bound passenger train on the Southern Pacific road was stopped and robbed this morning by two masked men seven miles north of Tulare. The robbers climbed over the baggage car to the engine and ordered the engineer to stop the train, which he did. The men then compelled the engineer and fireman to go with them over to the express car and order the express men to get the door. The amount taken is said to be $25,000. A tramp who was stealing a ride was seen by the robbers while crawling out, and mistaking him for a trainman, they shot him in the head. The wounded man is unconscious. A brakeman started forward to see what the matter was, but ran back when ordered to do so by the robbers. The latter escaped.

NEW JERSEY'S NEW GOVERNOR.

He is Inaugurated at Trenton—Favors Ballot Reform.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 22.—Gov. Abbott was inaugurated Tuesday at noon at Taylor's opera house in the presence of the Legislature, the judiciary, and the State officers. The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Beasley. After his formal introduction to the Senate and General Assembly the Governor delivered his inaugural address.

Following the inauguration a reception was given by the Governor at the State house, while a parade by the social and political organizations took place on the street. A reception was given by the Governor in the evening, followed by the inaugural ball in the Masonic temple.

The special feature of the Governor's inaugural address was his discussion of ballot reform.

BURIED UNDER DRIFTS.

THE PACIFIC RAILWAYS COMPLETELY BLOCKADED.

Snow from Ten to Thirty Feet Deep—Nevada City Cut Off from Supplies—The Storm Elsewhere.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 22.—The prospects are that the great snow blockade on the Central Pacific will be cleared to-night or to-morrow to the delight of the snow-bound passengers. Clear weather is reported at all stations from Stockton to Truckee, save at Cold Springs and Cisco, where the weather is still cloudy and threatening. At each of these places one inch of snow fell last night. There is now three feet of snow on the ground at Cold Springs, and the country is covered to a depth of over ten feet on the level, and in drifts the snow is three or four times as deep. Last evening the Central Pacific was enabled to open the road to the Sierras to the five dead engines near Champion's spur. A rotary plow was pushed by eleven engines and the snow was thrown fifty feet on either side of the track. One hundred and fifty snow shovels were engaged in digging a trench, were surprised and completely buried by snow from the plow. They were badly scared, but the only injury sustained was a ducking. Fire engines and plows were taken to Truckee, and the way is clear to tunnel 13, with the exception of a few minor drifts on the Blue canyon side. They have passed to Cascade, where the road is again at work, and it is said by railroad officials that the road will be open possibly to-night. East of Truckee a plow with sufficient power to back it will push to Reno. Heavy slides and drifts are reported between Truckee and Boca. A rotary plow is clearing the road to Blue canyon, and it is expected to clear the track to the two imprisoned passenger trains between Blue canyon and Alta. None of the snow sheds has fallen, although the weight of snow in places is incalculable. The average depth of the snow along the sheds is twenty feet. Over one thousand snow shovels and workmen are on the mountain.

Truckee Completely Isolated.
Truckee is cut off from all communication with the outside world, but this is true of all mining and other towns in the Sierras.

A passenger named E. A. Lanford died of pneumonia superinduced by an attack of "the grippe" and was buried by men on snow shoes at Boca yesterday.

Jacob Duntz, snow shoveler, was killed at Cold Springs yesterday by being struck by a car.

Most of the passengers in the two trains near the Blue canyon are well provided for delay. There are a few second class passengers who had only enough money to buy tickets and did not figure on a blockade. They also did not prepare for the cold weather that set in when the storm ceased.

At Dutch Flat on the western slope of the Sierras there are seven feet of snow on the level, two feet more than before recorded. Wagon roads and ditches are blocked and many houses have been crushed by the snow, but the lives have been lost. Snowshoes are the only means of getting anywhere. The damage to fruit trees will be considerable. The snow goes off with rain the damage to the valley will be immense.

In addition to the imprisoned trains near Blue canyon two east-bound passenger trains are snowed in near Shady run.

Well Supplied with Food.
Railroad people have done everything in their power to make the passengers comfortable, paying men big wages to carry provisions on snowshoes a distance of five miles.

On the Oregon road the passenger trains bound to and from Portland are still stuck in deep snows at Siskiyou range. The road is blocked between Dunsmuir and Sims, and between Sims and Redding. Supplies are being taken to imprisoned trains at Sims from Redding. Passengers are on short rations. From Simons north to Edgewood the road is still blocked.

Nevada City Snowed In.
Nevada City, Cal., Jan. 22.—Telegraphic communication is just restored after two days' interruption. There is four feet of snow in the city and seven feet on the neighboring hills. All ditches are blocked and citizens are warned to husband water lest the city reservoirs go dry. Provisions are getting scarce and prices rising rapidly. Freighters tried to get to Colfax yesterday for supplies, but after going a few miles were turned back by the deep snow. Many families are out of fire-wood and none can be had at any price. The churches remained closed Sunday. The schools have been closed and court adjourned for the week. There has been no mail communication with the lower country since last Wednesday. Snow shovellers are working night and day on the roofs of houses, in some instances getting $1.25 an hour. Despite these precautions many buildings have been crushed by the snow, among these Keller's house, Margaret Long's house, two Chinese laundries, several Chinese tenement houses, many barns and Tompkins & Sons' store.

The county by the suspension of travel, business and mining and damage to buildings will reach $500,000. Snowshoers down from the upper country say all hydraulic mines have started up and expect to make a fine clean-up when the snow gets settled enough to permit supplies to reach them.

Trains Getting Into Portland.
PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 22.—The first through train for the last week arrived here last evening at 5 o'clock, after the Union Pacific line from the East. About two hundred and fifty passengers arrived on the first section, also a large number of baggage and mail. Another train arrived at 6 o'clock p. m. with more passengers and mail. A third train came in at 3 o'clock a. m. and a fourth during the morning. The trains brought 600 delayed passengers in all, and not less than 1,500 sacks of delayed mail. The blockade is broken, and unless another storm follows the company will be able to keep the road open and trains will depart and arrive on time after to-morrow.

During the week's blockade passengers have been well provided for by the railroad company. The blockade on the Southern Pacific remains unbroken. No train has arrived from San Francisco for over a week. A great snowstorm has been prevailing in the Siskiyou mountains. It now looks as if there will be no through traffic from California for the last part of the present week. The company is doing all in its power to open the road and raise the blockade, but this for all efforts in the face of the howling storm have been futile. All trains over the Northern Pacific lines going east and coming west are reported on time.

Why continue the use of irritating powder, snuff or liniment. Ely's Cream Balm, pleasant of application and a sure cure for catarrh and cold in the head, can be had for 50 cents. It is easily applied into the nostrils, is safe and pleasant, and is curing the most obstinate cases. It gives relief at once.

The proprietors of Ely's Cream Balm do not claim it to be a cure-all, but a sure remedy for catarrh, cold in the head and fever. It is not a liquid or a snuff, but is easily applied into the nostrils. It gives relief at once.

Nature in Convulsion.
Is terrific. Volcanic eruptions, cyclones, earthquakes are awful and tremendous pictures of the forces of nature, but are to be regarded as the effect of the administration of remedies which produce convulsion and agony in the abnormal portion of the human frame. Such is the effect of the old-fashioned purgatives falling more and more into disuse, and of which Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the wholesome, pleasant and far more effective successor. They weakened the intestines, the Bitters invigorates. They left the bowels inactive, because incapacitated by causing febrileness. The Bitters, on the contrary, and become it easier, not force them to act—a vast and fortunate difference—perpetuates their activity and regularity. The liver is beneficially stimulated, as the kidneys also are, by this medicine, which easily cures, rheumatism, malaria, nervousness and rheumatism.

PORTUGAL WILL NOT TRADE WITH ENGLAND.

To Fight out the Political Complications on a New Line—Deaths of a Noted Rabbi—Foreign News.

Lisbon, Jan. 22.—The Commercial association has resolved to do its utmost to prevent or restrict all trade or commercial intercourse with England. The inhabitants of Setubal, a port eighteen miles from here, forcibly prevented a Portuguese merchant of that place from shipping goods on an English steamer, which therefore sailed without any cargo. Many American, French, and German commercial travelers are here making the most of the opportunity afforded to replace British goods in Portuguese markets by goods from the countries they represent.

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 22.—At a Portuguese meeting held here yesterday was resolved to suspend business with English people and to send a telegram to Lisbon saying that the members of the colony here are prepared to make any sacrifice for their native country.

NAPLES IS BURIED.
Field Marshal of Magdala Laid at Rest with Military Honors.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Vast crowds began to assemble early this morning in the streets through which it was announced that the funeral procession of Field Marshal Lord Napier of Magdala was to pass.

No emblems of mourning were displayed on the streets or appeared on the public buildings, but a general regret was none the less evident by the quietness of the crowds, and the last honors paid to the dead here formed one of the most impressive military spectacles ever witnessed in London.

The funeral was conducted with full military honors. Lord Napier's body was placed upon a gun-carriage at the rear of the Royal Horse Artillery and at 9 o'clock amid the customary marks of military respect. The gun-carriage was draped with the union jack and upon the coffin rested Lord Napier's plumed hat and sword. The carriage was drawn by six black horses and was escorted by lancers. The body passed through the streets holding the place of honor behind a long line of mourning coaches, including the Queen's State carriage, family coaches, and others. One of these was loaded with flowers and wreaths, sent by the royal family and many persons of distinction.

The route of the procession was lined with soldiers. The cortege, passing by the tower of the embankment, arrived at the tower at 11:15 o'clock. Thence it moved via the Strand, the Strand, and the Strand, where immense throngs were assembled, and arrived at St. Paul's cathedral about noon. Here the funeral train was met by the Prince of Wales, who afterward the Queen's State carriage, family coaches, and others. One of these was loaded with flowers and wreaths, sent by the royal family and many persons of distinction.

The death of Lord Napier of Magdala has given rise to a somewhat curious complication. The deceased nobleman left two sons, twins, Robert and George. After some discussion as to which entered the world first the family decided that Robert should inherit the title. George thought of appealing to Parliament to divide the honors, as there are two titles. As a compromise the family council, influenced by the fact that Robert is a married man, and that George must eventually inherit everything, propose to give George a handsome annuity and one of the titles. There is no parallel case in the history of the British peerage.

Cunard Steamer Gallia Reaches Queens-town Badly Battered—A Vessel Adrift.

QUEENSTOWN, Jan. 22.—The Cunard steamship Gallia, from New York Jan. 11, has arrived badly battered by one of the most tempestuous voyages in her history. Five of her boats were smashed and much of her deck woodwork was broken or swept away by the waves. None of her passengers was injured, however.

During the height of the storm she passed a steamer drifting at the mercy of the elements and with only a mast standing. The Gallia's captain thinks she belonged to the Johnston line. He was unable to aid her.

Canadian Liberals Protest Their Loyalty.
OTTAWA, Jan. 22.—In the House today Mallock (liberal), gave notice of a most unanimously loyal address to the queen, repudiating any annexation of independent sentiment in Canada. It is supposed that this move is made as an offset to the general impression that the liberals are more or less favorable to either annexation or independence.

THE MAYBERRY LYCHING.

A CONFOUNDING OF NAMES—NOT A LINE

OF FICTION.

To the Editor.

There is too much fiction in the Gazette of the 20 inst. of the lynching of Mayberry.

I was at that time a member of the fire department, and I spent several hours of the night before the lynching, in front of the jail door, helping to push aside battering rams and dodging brick bats.

Captain G. S. Dodge played a part in the affair, but one, nothing like that scribbled to him. To my certain knowledge, he was one of a squad of armed men, who were inside the jail to protect Mayberry from the mob—I believe he was in command under the sheriff. Neither was he a "Kentuckian." He was born in the state of New York, and came thence to Janesville in 1853.

His whole previous life had been in

New York with the exception of a brief residence in Kentucky and a campaign made in the federal army in the last year of the Mexican war. He enlisted in a regiment commanded by John C. Breckenridge. He returned from the war as the captain of his company. Since 1865 his remains have rested in Oakhill cemetery.

I offer the foregoing in vindication of the memory of a brave soldier.

VINDEX.

[Vindex is partly right. Captain Geo.

S. Dodge was not the Captain Dodge mentioned in the Gazette article. Captain George S. Dodge was at that time a most prominent and leading citizen of Janesville, and at the Fourth of July celebration of that year (1855) was the chief marshal of the day, with the late

Captain M. F. McKay as aid. Captain
